

Peace Corps is looking for potential host organizations to place American Volunteers!!!

If your organization works within the scope of Community and/or Economic Development outside of Baku then you can apply for Peace Corps Volunteers!

The Peace Corps (PC) is a non-political, non-religious the United States Government's agency that started its activity in Azerbaijan in 2003 and since 2005 has been implementing Community Economic Development (CED) project in various regions of the country. PC conducts CED in cooperation with the Ministry of Economy and Industry.

American volunteers commit to working in Azerbaijan for 2 years, supporting community development. If you are a business, community and economic development organization or service provider, or agro and business information center and organization, or micro-finance institution; or environmental organizations, and local public administration institution there is an opportunity for you to host a Peace Corps Volunteer!

CED Volunteers will be placed in selected organizations for two years, beginning in June 2014. Peace Corps will provide a small monthly stipend to Volunteers, as well as cover their health-related expenses. The host organizations are not expected to provide any financial support to PCVs. The host organizations are, however, required to work with PCVs and provide resources that contribute to the Volunteer's ability to work effectively and complete their work requirements. Host organizations are expected to assist Peace Corps in identifying affordable housing for Volunteers.

Organizations that wish to apply for a Peace Corps CED Volunteer must have their head of organization complete and sign an application form and return it to Peace Corps. Please make sure that you provide detailed information about type of PCV needed (specialty, background, etc.). You can request application form by contacting the numbers denoted below and the form will be e-mailed, faxed, or mailed to you.

The application deadline is November 11, 2013.
